THE PARKER ARRENBERG DIVORCE HELPLINE

Parker Arrenberg have introduced a new service called a 'Divorce Helpline'

It is free, confidential and anonymous.

You pay only for the phone call and the number to ring is ?????.

Consulting a solicitor about the possibility of a divorce or separation can seem a big step. You need to know your options without committing yourself, and yet you require total confidentiality.

Sometimes it might seem that walking into a solicitor's office is that final irrevocable step and, on top of that, there is always the underlying thought "How much is this all going to cost me?"

The solution to these worries is now at hand, at the end of the phone. Parker Arrenberg has launched a unique helpline service which will connect you direct to a member of our widely respected family team.

//

This service is totally free. You pay only for the phone call

You do not need to give out your name, or any other personal details and you will not be charged any legal fees for using the helpline – you only pay for the cost of the call.

We provide you with sympathetic guidance and also explain the support that a solicitor can provide. This can include answers to your questions on mediation and legal costs.

The helpline is open between 10am and 5pm Monday-Friday.

At other times, you may, if you wish, leave a message and we will happily telephone you back: although, of course, in these circumstances your anonymity will have been lost. Perhaps best to ring between the above times when we will be able to deal with you personally.

Our family team operates within the guidelines of Resolution, which promotes a conciliatory atmosphere combined with a sensitive, constructive and cost effective approach. If at any stage you wish to take matters further, you will be invited to an initial assessment meeting which will, again, be free of charge and you will be put under no pressure whatsoever to instruct us.

However, once you decide to use Parker Arrenberg we will give you an accurate quotation before beginning work on your behalf.

Despite seeking a gentle resolution, be assured that we can be assertive if the need arises. These are difficult and stressful matters and our aim is to advise and assist you as sensitively as we can. The watchword is to help you. That is why we have started the Helpline.

Ring ????? between 10am and 5pm Monday-Friday, don't give your name just tell us your situation and ask any question you wish. Our first job is to listen, and that is what we will do.
